Fire latest controversy at house

By Andy Siering
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — A fire that destroyed a house at 719 N. 26th St. in North Granite on Tuesday is just the latest in a series of controversial incidents involving the property.

Fourth Ward Alderman Dan Partney said he and the owner of the house, Ruth Ray, "could not be considered friends." Partney said he had been after Ray to fix up or tear down a number of "junk properties" she owned in his ward, including this and another site on North 26th Street, two in the 2600 block of Illinois Avenue in West Granite and several others on Illinois Avenue.

Building Inspector John Jakich said he was shocked to hear the house had burned because he had sent a letter listing its shortcomings to Ray on the day of the fire and had given her 30 days to correct them or face condemnation proceedings. Jakich said he was unaware of any repairs being made and no building permit had been issued for the property.

Jim Stuart, a contractor who said he was renovating the house as a favor to Ray, said Partney had tried to buy the house from Ray before the fire. He said somebody driving a Lincoln car came by the property Wednesday and offered one of his workers $500 in an envelope, telling him to give it to Ruth Ray and "send the deed to Dan Partney."

Partney scoffed at the claim, saying he wasn't interested in any of Ray's properties, which he called "slums." He said, "I've had real good success getting things torn down through the legal process and I have no reason to resort to (illegal actions)."

Partney said he had "never attempted to buy any of her properties, because frankly they're not worth anything."

Stuart said Ray was involved in a property dispute with her neighbor, Thomas Campbell, from whom Stuart said the house had been purchased by Ray's husband, Lonzo, who died four years ago.

Stuart said Campbell claimed the house was two feet over his (Campbell's) property line and Campbell demanded it be moved or sold to him.

Campbell could not be reached for comment Friday. Neighbors said Campbell and his family had gone out of town for the weekend.

Partney said he knows that Campbell had been quarrelling with Ray, but he said Campbell would have no reason to be happy about the fire because "the houses are only about a foot apart."

The fire broke out at about 11:15 p.m. in a bedroom of the one-story frame home.

Fire Chief Jerry Wallace said Wednesday a state arson investigator would be called in, but the investigator had not showed up as of late Friday. Fire Department investigators sifted through rubble inside the house late Friday afternoon.

Stuart, who lives in St. Louis and formerly lived in Granite City, said he had locked up the house at 4 p.m. He said that when he heard the house was burning he returned and found several thousand dollars worth of his tools missing.

"We secured all the locks and everything," Stuart said.

Stuart also said there was a strong smell of alcohol racing fuel in the house after firemen had extinguished most of the blaze.

A Fire Department spokesman said the blaze caused an estimated $15,000 of damage.

Noid annoying Venice officials

By Andy Siering
Staff writer

VENICE — City officials have complained several times, in public and private, about Venice residents not being able to get Domino's pizza deliveries.

Tuesday night, Domino's Area Manager Dave Thompson showed up at the City Council meeting to explain why.

"We peppered him up pretty good," said Mayor Tyrone Echols afterward.

Alderman John Ervin has been among the most outspoken critics of the pizza chain and says he is urging his constituents to boycott the company that features the "Noid" character in its advertising.

It was Ervin who brought the matter up most recently, four weeks ago, when he told the council he had received a Domino's coupon in the mail. When he tried to redeem it by ordering a pizza delivered, he was told he lived outside Domino's coverage area.

"If they won't deliver here, they should stop cluttering up our mailboxes," Ervin said.

But Thompson said it was store policy not to deliver past Third Street in Madison for a number of reasons.

Foremost among these reasons, he said, was safety. To ensure that drivers don't drive dangerously trying to meet the store's guarantee of delivery within 30 minutes, the company draws delivery area boundary lines for all of its stores.

Rice named president of Sunrise Industries

Robert M. Jelenic, president and chief operating officer of Ingersoll Publications, announced Friday the appointment of Thomas E. Rice as president of Sunrise Industries Inc. effective June 1.

Sunrise Industries is the parent company which operates the Suburban Newspapers of Greater St. Louis, with 47 weekly newspapers in the metro area both in Missouri and Illinois, and the daily Telegraph in Alton, which also publishes three free weeklies.

Jelenic said the promotion of Rice, 45, who has been general manager of the Suburban Journals since December 1988, will enhance Ingersoll's overall competitive position in the Greater St. Louis market. It will consolidate for the first time under a local manager the responsibility for directing expansion planning and growth for the newspaper operations in the area, Jelenic added.

Jelenic said Rice will work closely with C. Thomas Marschel, president and chief executive officer for the Suburban Journals, and Don Miller, publisher of the Telegraph in Alton, to carry out plans to improve Ingersoll's competitive position in St. Louis.

Jelenic said, "I am delighted

to have someone of Tom's caliber to fill this extremely important position. Tom's knowledge of the market and his previous competitive market experience in Dallas, Fort Lauderdale and Chicago is exactly what is needed to coordinate our efforts in the greater metropolitan St. Louis area."

He added he has been extremely pleased with the performance of the Journals and the Telegraph so far this year.

Stepson pleads innocent

EDWARDSVILLE — The stepson of Lydia Colwell pleaded innocent to her murder during a hearing in Third Circuit Court Friday.

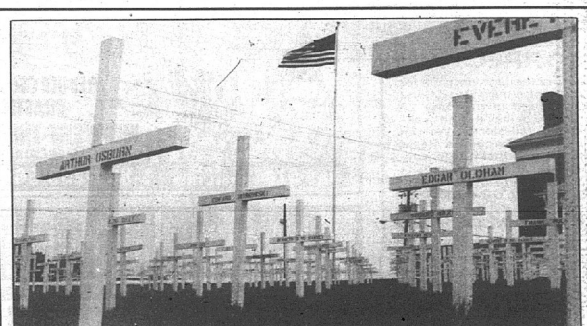

Robert Colwell, 65, of 6 Harrison Ave., Pontoon Beach, entered the plea, despite having given a confession in the crime when arrested earlier this month.

Lydia Powell Colwell, 81, was found dead at about 9:30 p.m. in her home in the 2500 block of Iowa Street May 3, from multiple gunshot wounds to the head. Her stepson surrendered to authorities at 1:30 the following morning and made a statement implicating himself, authorities said.

During a coroner's inquest two weeks ago, a Granite City Police Department detective said the killing involved the fact that the stepson had been left out of the family will. Det. Nick Petrillo told the coroner's jury that Robert Colwell had argued with his stepmother over the will left by his father, Herman N. Colwell, who died last September.

An attorney in the case said Friday that Colwell's defense will involve his past bouts with mental illness and other health problems that could have impaired his judgment.

Crosses at the American Legion Venice-Madison Post 307.

Memorial ceremonies set

By Patrick Foley
Staff writer

QUAD CITIES — Two Memorial Day ceremonies are planned locally, one in Granite City and one in Venice.

American Legion Venice-Madison Post 307 will host its annual Memorial Day program on Monday beginning at 10:30 a.m. on the lawn of the post home at 740 Broadway in Venice.

A display of 533 crosses will blanket the lawn before a replica of the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery. Each cross bears a name of a deceased post member or of a soldier, sailor or airman from Madison or Venice killed in action.

Sixty-eight crosses, each bearing a name of one of those killed in action during World War I, World War II, Korea or Vietnam, will be given a place of distinction on the lawn for the 1990 program.

Charles Pollard, the American Legion 22nd District commander, will be the keynote speaker. The 22nd District encompasses 49 Legion posts including Post 307.

Post 307 Commander Benny Mangiaracino said he welcomes all to participate in the annual event.

A ceremony will also be held Monday at the Greater Granite City War Memorial at Madison Avenue and 21st Street in Granite City. The ceremony is scheduled to begin at 9 a.m.

The Rev. Harold Maynard, pastor of the Calvary Pentecostal Church on Maryville Road in Granite City and a World War II Navy veteran, will be the keynote speaker.

Dr. Gregg Jones, a local dentist, will be the master of ceremonies.

The invocation and benediction will be given by the Rev. Don Stratton, assistant pastor of the Tri-City Tabernacle Assembly of God in Granite City.

A firing squad will be composed of members of VFW (Veterans of Foreign Wars) Post 7451 of Madison and the Illinois POW/MIA (Prisoners of War and Missing in Action) Vietnam Veterans of America Chapter 422.

The ceremony will also feature a recording of "Taps" played by the late Andy Sgroi, AMVETS national bugler.

According to Steve Konkovich, chairman of the war memorial, all area veterans groups, civic organizations and government officials have been invited to attend the program and place a wreath on the memorial.

This is the first anniversary of the dedication of the Greater Granite City War Memorial, which was constructed to honor the 229 veterans from Granite City, Madison, Venice, Pontoon Beach, Mitchell and Stallings who were killed in 20th Century wars.

Madison County lags in license suspensions for DUI arrests

By Dennis McMurray
Staff writer

SPRINGFIELD — The odds of getting arrested for drunken driving and keeping your license were better in Madison County than in all but one other Illinois county last year.

But that may be about to change.

Representatives from the secretary of state's office soon will begin seminars for police and assistant state's attorneys in Madison County. State's Attorney Bill Haine said.

"I think our percentage of suspensions will improve as police departments and my office learn how to avoid some of the pitfalls," Haine said.

In 1989, 77 percent of the people arrested in Madison County for driving under the influence or for refusing a breath-analysis test lost driving privileges under the state's summary suspension law.

That compares with 90 percent statewide, the secretary of state's office reported.

Only Pope County's 71 percent suspension rate was lower, Haine said he was disturbed by the statistics.

"It's a concern to me and it's a very difficult problem. I've had several meetings within our office and we've had several meetings with police officers and we're working on it."

After a 45-day delay, driving privileges are automatically suspended for three months if the driver refuses to take the test the license is suspended for 10 months.

However, the arrested driver can ask for a court hearing on whether the arrest was conducted properly. Suspensions were rescinded by judicial orders in 23 percent of Madison County cases last year, compared with 10 percent statewide.

Haine cited Madison County judges' strict interpretation of the law as the reason for the higher percentage of summary suspensions they blocked.

The 5th Appellate Court is also sticking to existing procedural details, he said.

Assistant State's Attorney Greg Erthal said he believed represented by lawyers on DUI cases in Madison County was also responsible for fewer summary suspensions.

"Come to the summary suspension hearings on Thursday afternoons and you'll see some of the best attorneys in the state there," Erthal said.

However, DUI convictions in Madison County were up 13 percent last year from the previous year, Erthal said.

But the county conviction rate was well below the 29 percent statewide, Karen Loeb, a spokeswoman for the secretary of state's office, said. She said 19 percent of the DUI arrests ended in convictions in Madison County in 1989.

The percentage of people who are arrested and actually lose driving privileges has been steadily declining in recent years in Madison County, according to the secretary of state's report. It fell from 94 percent in 1986 to 83 percent in 1987 and 79 percent in 1988.

The statewide average has stayed fairly steady, with 92 percent in 1986, 89 percent in 1987 and 90 percent each of the last two years.

New state bears are teddies

COLLINSVILLE — Three thousand new bears will be on patrol in Illinois State Police squad cars in the near future, but they will not be real flesh and blood twopeeps.

They are of the teddy bear variety and will assist State Police officers in providing professional and caring assistance to children who have been involved in accidents or traumatic incidents, according to Illinois State Police Director Jeremy D. Margolis.

The teddy bears are being provided to the State Police by members of Illinois credit unions.

John Fiore, chairman of the Illinois Credit Union Foundation, said, "The Illinois Credit Union Foundation in conjunction with the Illinois Credit Union League has been working on development of the teddy bear patrol project with the Illinois State Police for the past several months."

"The purpose of the project is to initiate a calming effect on children that State Police troopers and agents come in contact with while performing their duties."

Margolis said, "Every day, State Police troopers and agents handle situations involving children. Often, a rapport can be established between these officers and a frightened child by using a teddy bear."

"The credit unions in Illinois and their entire membership are to be commended for getting involved in this police community relations project. The Illinois State Police greatly appreciate the Credit Union League's assistance in funding this service."

About 3,000 teddy bears were presented to the State Police this month during ceremonies conducted at the Illinois Credit Union League's 60th annual convention in Chicago.

State Police and Credit Union officials say that the teddy bear patrol program will be conducted throughout the entire state. Each trooper and agent will be issued a bear to carry in his or her police vehicle.

Officials also say that the program will be an ongoing one and that the officers will be reassured a bear when one is used to assist them in their duties.

Parents offered sexuality class

It's not regarded as easy to educate one's children about sexuality.

That's why St. Elizabeth Medical Center is offering the Caring Parents' Guide: Sexuality Education at Home.

The class, starting May 31, is being held to teach parents how to talk to their children about sexuality.

The class is limited to 20 people, and pre-registration is required. Cost is $10 per person or $15 per couple.

For more information or to register, 798-3040 can be called.

"Our goal is for parents to become the primary sexuality educators of their children," said Ketra Johnson, a registered nurse in the OB Department and certified facilitator of the class.

The class will be conducted May 31 and June 7 and 14, from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m., in the SEMC President's Room in Bonaventure's Cafeteria on the ground floor of the medical center.

Parents are encouraged to attend all three sessions because different topics will be covered each evening.

- A medium-sized tricolor male mixed-collie found May 24 in the area of Prather School.
- Six mixed-breed puppies, some male and some female, found May 24.

By statute, animals not claimed or adopted may be destroyed five working days following their capture by Animal Control.

Free child ID program Saturday

Central Hardware will sponsor a free identification program for children at its Granite City area store on Saturday, June 2.

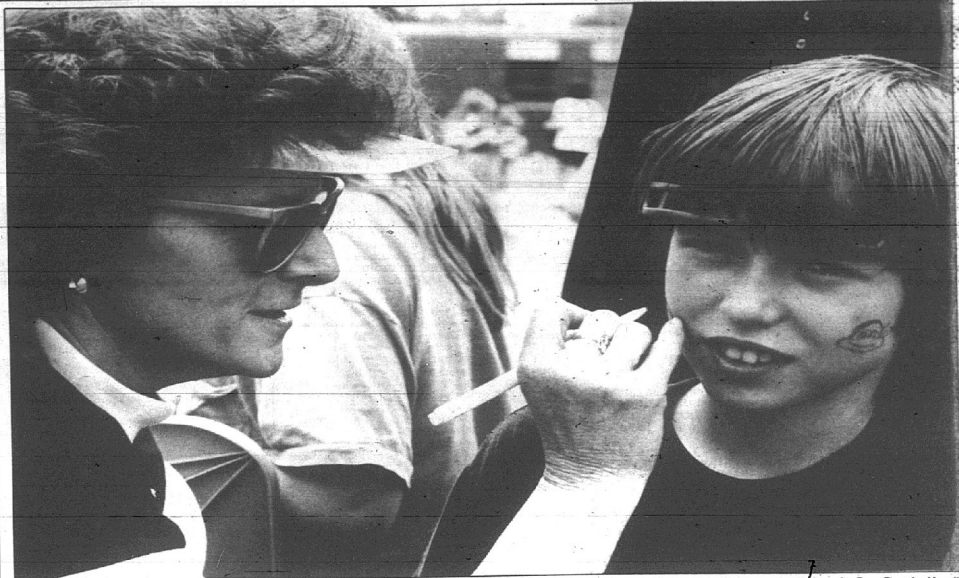

The IdentiChild program, in cooperation with the Granite City Police Department and St. Elizabeth Medical Center, will be held in the Granite City Central Hardware at the Crossroads Plaza Shopping Center from 2 to 5 p.m.

IdentiChild is free and open to all children — from infants to teenagers.

IdentiChild is arranged in assembly line fashion. The hospital will weigh and measure the height of each child, the police will fingerprint the youngsters and a staff member of Peffers Events Marketing will take an instant photograph.

This information then will be placed in a special photo mount and given to the parents for safekeeping.

The National Center for Missing and Exploited Children estimates 1.6 million children are reported missing in the United States each year.

Grant to aid businesses

SPRINGFIELD — State Sen. Sam Vadalabene, D-Edwardsville, has announced the award of a $150,000 grant to encourage investment in-area businesses.

The Southwestern Illinois Development Corp., based in Collinsville, will match its grant with stock subscriptions and lines of credit from nearly a dozen local area banks.

"The corporation will then take the money it raises and invest in existing businesses in Madison and St. Clair counties that need to retrofit and modernize but pose high risks to conventional lending institutions," Vadalabene said.

The grant was awarded under the Illinois Development and Technology Act. A total of $700,000 in grants was awarded to development corporations around the state to assist in financing projects to encourage modernization of businesses and technology in Illinois.

Programs cover a wide range of topics. Robotics is one of the exciting courses for fifth and sixth graders.

First and second graders will have an opportunity to study Spanish, while seventh and eighth graders may study Ancient Egypt.

"This is a great opportunity for kids; one they won't get in their regular classrooms," said Connie Yordy of Belleville, a former microbiologist who will be teaching "The Invisible World," a microbiology workshop for third and fourth graders.

Yordy's students will use microscopes and other laboratory equipment at the Belleville

Campus to examine single-cell animals, bacteria and molds.

"Most people don't realize all the things that live around us that we cannot see."

This class will be mostly hands-on work. Students will find out what it is like to be a scientist, the excitement of science and scientific discoveries.

Yordy has a bachelor of science degree in biology and is working toward a master of science degree in elementary education.

Each workshop consists of eight sessions over a two-week period, beginning in July. Different programs will be offered at each campus.

The workshop — "How Tall Is a Dinosaur?" — takes a project-oriented approach to mathematics where fifth and sixth grade students discover relevancy to what they study.

"Projects will include how you would determine the height of a dinosaur or the distance across a pond, by using theories of trigonometry that are presented on a fifth and sixth grade level," said Andrew M. White, workshop instructor.

"We'll also discuss how those mathematical principles apply to several practical uses." Each student will address problems individually and as a member of a group.

White is a mathematics instructor for seventh and eighth grade students at Grant Elementary School in Fairview Heights.

Brochures about the program are available in BAC's extension center office, Room 1291, at the Belleville Campus; or by calling toll-free, 1-800-BAC-5131, ext. 395.

NEW MEMBERS: thirty-one students who were recently inducted into the Granite City High School National Honor Society.

Elks 'Get the Facts' program slated Saturday

Granite City's first "Get the Facts on Drugs Day" will be held on Saturday, June 2, at St. Elizabeth School, Johnson and Pontoon roads. Continuous programs can be viewed from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The event is being presented by Granite City Elks Lodge 1063 with funding provided through the Granite City Joint Council DARE Committee with a grant from Illinois Department of Children and Family Services' Positive Youth Development.

There will be no admission charge and persons of all ages are invited. Displays will be segregated for adults and junior and senior high students with a fun area devoted to younger children.

The war against drugs does not begin with a derelict addict on skid row, said Robert A.

Organizations

Meszaros of Granite City, Elks Southwest District chairman.

Elks Exalted Ruler Paul Schrage said, "We believe well informed parents are the most effective weapons in the war on drugs. Drug abuse and the problems it creates are a result of unhealthy choices.

"Our goal is to make our children aware of the choices they must make to remain drug free," Schrage said.

The displays also will be available for company or organization meetings, Meszaros said. While there will be no charge for use of these displays, consideration of a donation to replenish the materials would be appreciated, he said.

Elks members invite the public to drop by on Saturday, June 2, to view the displays and "get the facts."

Quilters Guild to meet Tuesday

The Heartland Quilters' Guild will hold its next day meeting on Tuesday, May 29, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at St. John's Church of Christ, Sixth and Penning, Wood River.

Visitors are welcome. For information, call 466-2707.

Service Sunday at adult care center

The First Illinois Church of Religious Science of Mind will hold a service at 10:45 a.m. Sunday, May 27, at the Eden Village Adult Day Care Center, 10 Center Grove Road, Edwardsville.

Annie P. Clark, religious science practitioner, will lead the service, assisted by Darryl Redmond, singer and pianist.

Persons of all faiths are welcome. Further information may be obtained by calling 692-4629 or 253-5669.

Floral society holds meeting

The Southwestern Illinois Hemerocallis Society met May 4, 7:30 p.m. at the Bethalto Community Center.

Don Hinricks reported that with the help of Joe Puente of the Alton Park and Recreation Department, the Gordon Moore Park daylily beds have been cleaned, fertilized and mulched.

Bill Ash reported that the 1989 Community Project daylily beds in Bethalto have been cleaned and tended. He also suggested that the society's 1990 project might be along Route 140 and a frontage road in Bethalto. It was decided to proceed with plans for the "Operation 140" daylily beds.

Pat Storm said the Annual Garden Tour will begin at her house on July 1 at 9:30 a.m.

Doris Karnes reported that plans are completed for the display and sale to daylilies to be held July 8 at Alton Square in the Famous Barr Court.

Appreciation night for Elks

Exalted Ruler Dennis E. Riggs presided at Granite City Elks Lodge 1063's first awards and appreciation night, honoring members who have faithfully served the lodge during the past year.

"Elk of the Year" award, the highest award bestowed in a local lodge, was presented to Otis "Bud" Gosnell.

Riggs gave a special appreciation award to William S. Russell Sr. for his dedicated work in serving the lodge for the past 10 years as secretary.

Special recognition went to Dave Whitsell and Bill Albers, chairmen of the monthly newsletter and bingo, respectively, for their dedicated work and commitment which required daily responsibilities.

Grand Exalted Ruler awards for membership recruitment went to Bob Goff and Bob Meszaros, and outstanding performance awards were awarded Stanley Brown and Meszaros.

Meszaros also received the "Officer of the Year" award, having served the lodge as Eastern Bunny chairman and Drug Awareness chairman. He also is a member of the Granite City DARE Committee.

Meszaros, his wife, Betty, and their two sons reside in Granite City.

A special engraved plaque was received by members of the Elks for their dedication in support of Elkdom.

Certificates of appreciation were given to all appointed chair officers and chairmen of select committees who performed an outstanding job during the past year, Riggs said.

Riggs expressed his appreciation to everyone for their support during the year and presented his wife, Rosemary, with a dozen red roses for her personal support.

Approximately 125 members and their ladies attended the ceremony which concluded with a reception and dancing.

BOB MESZAROS, left, is presented the "Officer of the Year" award by Dennis E. Riggs, exalted ruler of Granite City Lodge 1063.

WILLIAM A. Russell Sr., secretary of Elks Lodge 1063 for the past 10 years, left, receives a special appreciation award from Exalted Ruler Dennis E. Riggs.

Attends Army graduation

Carol Meyer has returned from San Antonio, Texas, where she attended a ceremony May 11 in which her daughter, Pvt. Brenda Meyer, was among the Army medical specialist graduates at Fort Sam Houston.

Following the ceremonies, Carol and her daughter visited Sea World in San Antonio and toured the Ranger's Museum in Waco. They also went horseback riding, crossing into Oklahoma.

Brenda Meyer returned with her mother to the Mitchell area, where she plans to spend the remainder of her leave visiting.

The Army specialist will depart for Germany on June 1, serving as a company medic in the 91 Alfa Division.

Tom and Delores Scott of W. Chain of Rocks Road recently traveled to Las Vegas, accompanied by her brother and sister-in-law, Arlington and Florence Rose of Celina, Ohio.

The two couples enjoyed Caesar's Palace and a simulated volcano at the Mirage.

Tom and Nancy Colbert and daughters, Shelly and Mendi, have returned from Olathe, Kansas, where they visited Nancy's sister and brother-in-law, Judy and Rick Cooper.

They also visited the exclusive Cedar Creek Resort, a community where the privately-owned homes sell for $300,000 and up. The resort is being constructed at Olathe Lake.

Howard Robertson and Alfred Suhre are out of the hospital. Robertson returned from St. Elizabeth Medical Center and is recovering from an illness involving a massive build-up of body fluid. Suhre is home recuperating from triple bypass surgery performed at Barnes Hospital, St. Louis.

Shauna Keck was the honoree at a slumber party on May 18. The party marked Shauna's 16th birthday and was hosted by her parents, Randy and Kathy Keck of Warnock Avenue.

Guests included friends, Christie Vivod, Hillary Watkins, Susan Wachter and Stacy Pyles.

On Sunday, May 20, Shauna was the guest at a family dinner. Present were her grandmothers, Pearl Keck and Faye Ryan. Also Mark and Sandy Papp and son, Aaron, Dave and Janis Wolfe and children, Tracy and Michael, Mary Coy, Linda Ringling and Trisha Wright.

The second annual reunion of retired Girl Scout leaders was held on May 15 at St. John United Church of Christ. Although attendance was down due to the weather, 29 former scout leaders enjoyed a potluck dinner and viewed tables of memorabilia.

Roll call was answered by each leader sharing her most treasured moment from her scouting days and announcing the school she represented.

Next year's reunion, scheduled for April or May, will be fast-paced at the Girl Scout international dinners.

For information call Jeri Schieb at 931-1487.

Penny Dummitt of Lenox Avenue has returned from Orlando, Fla., where she attended the graduation of a friend, Rhonda Ozeo. Ozeo was among the graduates at the U.S. Navy Recruit Training Command Center in Orlando.

Dummitt also visited the Epocot Center, Cocoa Beach, the downtown Church Street Station and made an interesting journey home through the southeastern United States.

Society observes anniversary

The Macedonian Bulgarian Ladies' Aid Society commemorated its 65th anniversary with a tree planting in Wilson Park as a living tribute and symbol of commitment by its membership to the community.

An announcement of the planting was made at the group's anniversary dinner at Ravanelli's Restaurant on April 22, the same day the world celebrated Earth Day. Nearly 100 members and friends were in attendance.

The Macedonian Bulgarian Ladies' Aid Society was founded in the spring of 1925 by immigrant women for social and cultural pleasure and to inspire civic and service interests and concerns among its membership.

Tomea Kirchoff, president, delivered the welcoming address and acknowledged the important role the organization has played in the lives of Macedonian Bulgarian women.

She also recognized the continuity of membership, in some cases extending through four generations.

The program, Garden of Memories, presented by Vicki Kirchoff Mayer, encapsulated feelings and memories of past activities through nature's beautiful blooming bounty.

Participating in the program were Ann Anastosoff, Ann Petroff and Mary Barron, who read letters of remembrances written by Sophie Kipfer, Mildred Guyer and the late Verka Gitcho.

Tomea Kirchoff has served as president for two decades and was honored for her leadership and dedication to the organization. Also recognized was Elizabeth Malincheff who served as treasurer for 27 years.

Past presidents in attendance were Milka Klyasheff, Mary Natsileff, Athina Gitchoff and Sylvia Orsey.

The eldest mother, Milka Klyasheff was presented the traditional "Mother's Day" bouquet.

Women work now, face poverty later

Eliza Newlin
staff writer

WASHINGTON — Many young women entering the workforce today will live in poverty when they retire, according to a report released recently that shows retirement benefits are heavily biased against older women.

"I am greatly alarmed," Rep. Bill Hughes, D-N.J., chairman of the House Subcommittee on Supplemental Income and Employment, said at a recent press conference releasing the report by the Older Women's League.

Although our mothers, wives and daughters are spending more time in the workforce, poverty among American women is projected to grow due to inequities in our retirement income system."

The report finds that women's Social Security benefits lag significantly behind men's, with retired women workers earning only 76 cents in benefits for every dollar paid to men. The report blames an outdated Social Security system that penalizes widowed or divorced women, two-income families and women who take time out to raise children.

Titled "Heading for Hardship," the report predicts that by the year 2020 the vast majority of senior citizens living in poverty will be women. Older women already experience twice the poverty rate of men. U.S. Census Bureau statistics for 1988 show that 15 percent of women older than 65 live below the federal poverty line, compared with 8 percent of men.

The median income for women older than 65 was just $7,103 a year in 1988, the census bureau indicates; men's median income was $12,471.

Hughes said the solution is to develop a Social Security system that does not penalize women for their years as caregivers.

Schardan, Seneczyn shut out Eagles, 3-0

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — The Civic Memorial Eagles were one of the lightest-hitting teams in the area this year. Rich Schardan and Tom Seneczyn did nothing to help them Thursday.

The Warriors' two senior right-handers combined on a two-hit shutout as Granite City (16-8) blanked CM 3-0 in the first round of the Edwardsville Regional. Granite City moved on (weather permitting) to play Jerseyville (11-12) in the semifinals Saturday in Edwardsville. The Panthers eliminated Roxana 3-1. Edwardsville was to play Wood River, a 7-2 winner over Alton.

Senior catcher Joe Wallace was 3 for 4 as he continues to make a run at the school single-season batting mark. But the Warriors left eight runners stranded and gave the Eagles some hope until Seneczyn slammed the door.

"We don't hit well with men on base," said coach Bob Stegmeyer. "We get very few key hits. We got them all in one day at Carbondale. They threw an off-speed pitcher (Bob Ludlam) and we seem to have trouble with those types. And we won't see any more straight fastball pitchers now."

The Warriors missed a bases-loaded chance in the first, but got two in the second. Ryan Reeves walked and junior designated hitter Eric Lewis got the first of his two hits. They moved up on a wild pitch and Jim McKeachan drove in the first run with an infield out. Lewis scored when Chad Lignoul's grounder was booted by shortstop Mike Wallace.

Granite City added a third run in the fifth when Wallace single, stole second and scored all the way from second on Dan Partney's sacrifice fly to right. Right fielder Kevin Roberts fell after catching the ball and had trouble getting rid of it. Wallace kept coming and scored easily.

Meanwhile, Schardan (5-2) had little trouble with the Eagles (5-17), who batted only 218 as a team this year. Mike Laughlin singled with two outs in the second and Dennis Ewing tripled past a diving Reeves in the fourth. But Schardan had eight strikeouts before tiring in the sixth. He issued his only two walks then and Seneczyn came in throwing heat for his third save. He had four strikeouts in 1 1/2 innings.

"That's Butch's best role," said Stegmeyer. "Richie was getting tired. He was dropping his elbow and that's a sure sign. And now he'll be ready to go Tuesday (regional championship) if we get there."

Stegmeyer had considered starting Seneczyn in Saturday's game, but is more comfortable with him in the bullpen. He said Brian Harshany was a likely candidate to start on the mound against Jerseyville, whom the Warriors split a double-header with May 14.

There was a possibility due to the rain that Saturday's games, if played at all, would be moved to LeClaire Field in Edwardsville.

Lady Warriors rout ND 8-0 in rain

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — It wasn't the most enjoyable of evenings for the Quincy Notre Dame soccer team.

The Lady Raiders made the long trip south and had to play much of the game in a steady rain before the long bus ride home. But that was far from the worst of it. The Lady Warriors made it a completely miserable experience for Notre Dame by scoring five goals, in the first quarter on the way to an 8-0 win in the Collinsville Sectional quarterfinals.

Granite City (12-3) won its ninth straight game and moved to the sectional semifinals against Springfield Sacred Heart-Griffin. The semifinals, originally scheduled for Saturday, have been moved to Monday. Collinsville will face Alton at 5 p.m. and the Lady Warriors will face Sacred Heart at 7 p.m.

The title game is still Tuesday (7 p.m.) at Collinsville High School.

"That was one of the best first quarters we've ever had," said Warrior coach Gene Baker, who wore no coat or hat despite the steady rain that started in the second quarter. "The girls are getting more into the spirit lately. They are anxious to get going with practice and it's showing up in the games."

The first quarter was a thing of beauty as the Lady Warriors worked the ball flawlessly and struck from every angle against beleaguered Lady Raider keeper Michelle Wiemelt.

Addie Lenzi got things started at 4:28 with her ninth goal as she kicked in Beth Edperson's rebound. Lenzi assisted as freshman Julie Goclan scored her first goal. Lenzi's point-blank shot hit the post and Goclan buried the rebound at 6:44. Sophomore Amanda Witter kept pace with Lenzi with her ninth goal at 10:38 off a corner kick. It went Lenzi to Witter to Angela Biason and back to Witter on a gorgeous piece of passing.

Junior Jeanie Graboski scored the next two goals at 13:19 and 19:36. The first was a Graboski corner kick that bounced in off a Notre Dame defender. Then Jennifer Harper assisted on the next one with four seconds left in the quarter.

Freshman Ann Logan got her second goal of the year at 23:14 to make it 6-0, and the Lady Warriors got fourth-quarter goals from Lia Mendoza (third) and junior Andrea Cline (third).

"We moved the ball very well despite the rain," said Baker, who sent most of his top players home after three quarters to avoid catching pneumonia. "Quincy Notre Dame has some good players and they are very physical. But their skill level isn't quite as high as some of the teams down here."

Each of the sectional's top four seeds survived to the semifinals. Jamie Casillas had three goals in Collinsville's 7-2 win over O'Fallon, Sacred Heart-Griffin blanked Quincy 4-0 and Alton got an early goal from Camie Bechtold for a 1-0 win over Springfield.

Oilers' Knight knocks in five runs as GC softball season ends, 11-1

By Brian Henry
Correspondent

WOOD RIVER — The Lady Warrior softball team experienced a "Knight"marish exit from the Bethalto Regional on Thursday.

Wood River's Tiffany Knight had three hits and drove in five runs to lead the Oilers (13-2) to an 11-1 six-inning win over Granite City, which finished its season at 7-11.

"Tiffany had been struggling at the plate recently," said Oiler coach Sandy Magurany, whose team was to face Collinsville in the regional semifinals Saturday. "We dropped her from the fourth spot to the No. 5 spot and it paid off."

Davi Knoblauch improved to 13-2 as she allowed one unearned run and three hits. Mia Puhse (5-4) was hurt again by wildness. She issued nine walks in a seven-run second inning. The Oilers had just two hits in that inning, but the last was a bases-loaded double by Knight to make it 7-0. Puhse walked four straight at one point, walked in three runs and Joy Hellemeyer singled in another run.

Granite City got its only run in the third without a hit. Jennifer Caviness walked, stole second and scored on the front end of an attempted double steal as Michelle Bequette was out at second. Knoblauch was 2-0 with an 0.59 ERA against the Lady Warriors this year.

"It was another typical Davi game," said Magurany.

It was the same story for the Lady Warriors, too.

"It's the same thing every time," said coach John Hutchings. "We give up the big inning and have inconsistent hitting. The bad weather hurt, too. All of those things did us in."

The Lady Warriors graduate seven starters and will have only one senior — Amey Bohnenstiel — with varsity experience next year.

"The girls, especially Mia, will get some work in this summer playing in fast-pitch leagues," said Hutchings. "It's obvious that we'll be young next year, but we also have two fine pitchers in Mia and Amey returning, so I think we can be respectable."

Bequette (catcher) and Caviness (first base) were both named to the All-Southwestern Conference second team. Honorable mention choices were Puhse, Kim Pawlak (shortstop) and Lori Dillier.

Soul, with less fat

Flavors of Cajun country mix Louisiana soul with seafood

Some connoisseurs of Louisiana cooking say Cajun-country cuisine or city-style Creole is impossible to cook without lots of fat. Fat, they contend, is the "soul" of Cajun-Creole cooking.

Fortunately for Cajun food lovers who want to keep the fat in their diet under control, there are delicious lower-fat choices among these recipes. Thoughtful substitutions of lower-fat ingredients to traditionally high-fat recipes can have excellent results as well.

There is no denying that many Cajun-Creole dishes are loaded with animal fat in the form of lard, butter or beef suet. Many recipes call for a roux, a gravy-like mixture made by slowly cooking oil and flour. These are recipes to avoid or strictly limit when keeping fat consumption to 30 percent or less of calories, as recommended by the American Institute for Cancer Research in its dietary guidelines. Instead, look for Cajun-Creole dishes that feature fresh vegetables and fish or poultry without a lot of added butter. In many recipes, the amount of fat called for can be reduced significantly without dramatically changing the taste or texture of the final dish.

Foods can be sautéed in broth or wine instead of oil or butter. Increasing the proportion of vegetables to meat in gumbos and jambalayas also reduces the amount of fat in a dish.

Another Creole specialty is to cook individual portions of poached fish, poultry or meat "en papillote" — with vegetables and a spoonful of low-fat sauce in an envelope made of foil. When a Cajun-Creole recipe includes rice, use whole grain brown rice for extra fiber, vitamins and minerals.

The following seafood recipe shows how some of the most healthful aspects of Cajun-Creole cooking — seafood, vegetables and seasonings — can be used to advantage in preparing a delicious fish dinner with a tangy Louisiana sauce.

There are a variety of healthful and interesting menu choices in almost any ethnic cuisine. The booklet, "From Around the World — International Menus and Recipes," offers many nutritious and healthy ideas. For a free copy, send a self-addressed, business-size envelope stamped with 45 cents postage to: American Institute for Cancer Research, Department AW, Washington, D.C.

Creole flounder

- 1 lb. flounder fillets
- 1 medium tomato, chopped
- 3 small green pepper, chopped
- 3 tbsp. lemon juice
- 3 small onion, finely chopped
- 1/2 tsp. basil
- Pinch pepper
- 3 or 2 drops pepper sauce

Place fish in baking dish. Mix tomato, green pepper, lemon juice, onion, basil, pepper and pepper sauce. Spoon onto fish. Bake at 400° for 10 to 15 minutes until fish flakes easily with fork.

Registered dietitian Karen Collins reviewed this material for the American Institute for Cancer Research.

Chocolate burns, treat it sweetly

Chocolate can be melted conventionally or in a microwave oven. Either way, it is necessary to heat it carefully so it does not burn.

To microwave, place chocolate in a microwave-safe dish. Melt 2 to 3 ounces chocolate at 50 percent (medium) power 2 to 4 minutes, stirring after half the time. Chocolate does not look melted until after it is stirred, so do not add extra time until it has been tested.

For range-top melting, use either a heavy saucepan or a double boiler. Heat chocolate until it is of stirring consistency.
